OHIO G.O.P. FAVORITE

Robert A. Taft, above, son of former President William Howard Taft, was selected by the Ohio G. O. P. yesterday as its favorite choice for presidential candidate.

SERIOUS FLOOD THREAT PASSES

Swollen Rivers Recede Toward Banks in County and State.

SCIOTO WATERS FALLING

LaRue School Reopened Today, but Green Camp and Agosta Still Closed.

Threat of serious flood conditions in Marion county and the state were passing today as swollen rivers started to fall.

A drop in temperatures to around the 20-degree mark and a two-day cessation of rain is believed to have stemmed the rising waters which have flowed over the banks of ice-choked rivers in many sections of the county and state.

In Marion county all state highways were opened this morning with the exception of the section between Newman's bridge and Prospect. The Scioto river at Prospect was reported to have dropped six inches during the night and was still falling today. The Scioto was also going down at Green Camp and LaRue and the Whetstone was falling in the eastern part of the county. At Prospect the water was still over the street along the river in the central part of town.

The LaRue school, closed yesterday because of high water, was reopened today. All school busses made their usual trips. The Green Camp and Agosta schools, however, were still closed today but flood conditions were reported abating at both places.

The Ohio river continued to rise today at all points from Pittsburgh to dam 47, above Evansville, Ind. The stage at Cincinnati reached 30 feet, a rise of 2.2 feet in the last 24 hours. A further rise was predicted by Meteorologist W. C. Devereaux, who said the crest early next week probably would be between 42 and 45 feet.

The government weather forecast today indicated that further relief from flood conditions may be expected tonight. Fair and warmer is the prediction for tonight, but light rain or snow is forecast for Saturday.

Many Forced from Homes

In Ohio scores of families forced from their homes by high water prepared to move back today as the flood threat became more remote. The state highway department began a check of damage to roads that is expected to run into thousands of dollars.

The Great Miami river sank slowly from its 13-foot stage and forecaster W. C. Devereaux of Cincinnati said the Ohio river was falling from Kanawha to the mouth of the Kentucky.

Scores of rural homes were still reported isolated at Bettsville, Seneca county, where Wolf creek overflowed. The blasting of an ice jam in downtown Fremont relieved pressure of the Sandusky river. A dozen families moved back into cottages near Willoughby as the Chagrin river receded. Some resi-

'FAVORITE SON' PICKED DESPITE WARNER STAND

Committeeman from Marion Opposed to G.O.P. Support of Taft of Cincinnati.

FIGHTS BROWN OF TOLEDO

Claims He Aims To Control National Organization by Backing Cincinnati Man.

The Ohio G. O. P. yesterday decided to back a "favorite son" as presidential candidate to oppose Sen. William E. Borah in the state primary despite opposition to the plan led by Committeeman Fred W. Warner of Marion. The Associated Press reported today.

The Republican state central committee named Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, son of former President William Howard Taft, as the favorite son entry. State Republican Chairman Ed D. Schorr said today Warner led the opposition to Walter F. Brown of Toledo, who, with Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, heads the at-large state of organization delegate candidates. The vote on Brown, he said, was 16 to 9.

Brown Causes Discord

Reliable reports said Walter Brown's selection and his activity in behalf of the "favorite son" plan caused the only discord at the central committee meeting.

Warner declared in a statement that he was certain the "favorite son" plan was a deliberate attempt by Walter Brown to control the national Republican organization.

"Harmony played no part in the picture," Warner said, "for the obvious reason that Walter Brown, in the face of bitter opposition, refused to withdraw as a delegate for the sake of harmony."

The committee originally determined on the "favorite son" plan for a nominally uninstructed delegation as an announced harmony move to prevent pre-primary fights in Ohio.

Will Oppose Borah Slate

The Republican organization slate, pledged to Taft as first choice and Charles R. Frederickson of Coshocton as second, will oppose the slate pledged to Borah and Publisher Frank E. Gannett of Rochester, N. Y. Frederickson is a former state chairman and past president of the Ohio Manufacturers' association. Taft, a leading Republican in the second Ohio congressional district for years, said he "deeply appreciated the honor conferred upon him but added he would not be a delegate to the Cleveland convention.

Chairman Schorr predicted that if the convention "were held at this time," the sentiment of the organization delegation probably would be for Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas.

A recent poll on presidential sentiment of 10,000 representative Ohio Republicans, Schorr said, gave Landon 56.3 per cent of the total, but the Kansan declined to enter the Ohio primary. Others declining to enter were Sen. L.

TWO ARE INJURED AS THREE CARS COLLIDE

Pupil on School Bus Slightly Hurt in Accident South of Marion.

Two persons were slightly injured in an accident yesterday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock on route 4, about one mile south of Marion city limits, which involved a truck, passenger car and school bus.

The injured persons, Mrs. Charles S. Hastings of Willard, who suffered bruises about the head and shoulder, and Joanne Kell, 8, of Crissinger road, who suffered a dislocated right shoulder, were released from the City hospital following X-ray examinations.

The accident occurred when the passenger car, driven by Mr. Hastings, was bumped into the rear of the school bus by a truck driven by Hilbert Hassel of Bellefontaine, according to officers from the state highway patrol and sheriff's office, who investigated the accident. Fred Leffler of near Marion was in charge of the school bus in which 20 pupils of the Pleasant township school were riding.

Joanne Kell, a pupil at the Pleasant school, was the only bus passenger injured. She was taken to the City hospital by R. A. Moore, principal of the Pleasant school, who was passing shortly after the accident occurred.

Damage to the vehicles was slight, being confined to the passenger car and the left rear end of the bus. Sheriff Fred Miller, Deputy Marion Hinkle and State Highway Patrolman P. L. Wood investigated the accident.

ICC Cuts Railroad Fares Down to 2 Cents a Mile

Pullman Rates Also Reduced and New Charges Ordered To Go into Effect June 2.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—In a five to four decision, the interstate commerce commission today ordered a reduction in basic rail passenger fares from 3.6 to 2 cents a mile.

The commission also ordered pullman rates cut to 3 cents a mile. These rates now average 4 cents.

Under the order, the new fares will be effective June 2.

Western and southern roads already had instituted low experimental rates, but eastern carriers, with the exception of the Baltimore & Ohio, contended a cut would seriously impair their revenue.

Expect Roads To Benefit

The commission's majority opinion, written by Claude R. Porter, on whose motion the general investigation was initiated, expressed the opinion that the eastern roads would be benefited by a downward revision of fares.

The present experimental fares in the west and south will not be disturbed by the ruling, nor will the rates charged on "extra fare" trains offering a "definitely superior" service.

Dissenting commissioners were Chairman Charles D. Mahaffie and Commissioners B. H. Meyer, Frank McManamy and William E. Lee.

Mahaffie contended a cut might substantially reduce revenues to the eastern carriers, while Meyer said the reduction was not great enough.

The majority opinion followed the recommendations of examiner Irving L. Koch in a report last July.

It was thought possible some of the eastern carriers might go the courts in an effort to overthrow the decision.

Commissioners Clyde B. Aitchison, Carroll Miller, W. M. W. Splawn and Marion M. Caskie joined Porter in supporting the reductions. Commissioner Hugh M. Tate did not participate in the case.

In his dissent, Meyer said that, applied to the present volume of traffic, the new rate would not yield any increased revenues to the railroads.

McManamy, said the commission did not have authority to "assume managerial duties" over the carriers and that the reduction would have that effect.

MAYOR VOICES HOPE OF AVOIDING CUT IN FIRE FIGHTING CORPS

GUNFIRE FOILS PRISON ESCAPE

Trio, Including Two Murderers Armed with Knives and 'Wooden' Gun, Halted.

Joseph Filkowski, Cleveland's Public Enemy No. 1, Among Three in Futile Plot.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 28—An Ohio penitentiary guard's gunfire thwarted today a bold escape attempt through a vehicle gate of three prisoners, two serving life terms for murder.

Warden James C. Woodard said the prisoners were Joseph Filkowski and John Davis, both convicted slayers from Cleveland, and Edmund Pawlinski of Lucas county.

Armed with five long knives, improvised from files, and a "wooden" pistol, the trio rushed through an inner gate of the stockade but Guard August Light's shots turned them back.

Guard Knocked Down

Guard S. H. Livingston was knocked down as the prisoners retreated. No attempt was made to attack him or any other guards in the convicts' brief bid for freedom.

Warden Woodard said an outer gate was closed and the trio would have been unable to escape should they have reached it.

The prisoners turned back, however, when the firing started.

Pawlinski is serving a 20 to 50-year term for robbery. Filkowski and Davis are serving terms for auto theft with life sentences for murder to follow. Davis was convicted of killing a man in Trumbull county.

Woodard said the men were members of an idle company and were just leaving a bath house when they made the escape attempt.

Come in 1932 and 1930

Pawlinski entered the penitentiary Feb. 6, 1932; Filkowski April 8, 1932, and Davis Oct. 8, 1929.

Filkowski once was described as Cleveland's public enemy No. 1.

Paroled from the penitentiary May 1, 1930, while serving a term for robbery, he returned to Cleveland where he became involved in the holdup slaying of Tony Veryk, Cleveland contractor. Filkowski was convicted of murder.

Davis was convicted of killing Earl Gamble during a robbery in Trumbull county.

TOKYO REBELS STAND BY GUNS

Refuse To Evacuate Stronghold in Capital and Government Plans "Measures."

BATTLE BELIEVED LIKELY

Persons in Vicinity of Premier's Residence Warned To Move to Safer Regions.

By The Associated Press

Japan's insurgent soldiers precipitated a fresh Tokyo crisis today, defying the deadline set for them to evacuate the heart of the capital, and the government met the challenge with "appropriate measures."

The nature of these "measures" was not immediately disclosed, a severe censorship controlling communications from Tokyo, but apparently reliable reports said the area about the rebel stronghold was being cleared for possible action.

Rebels Stand by Guns

Lieut. Gen. Kohei Kashii, assigned by the government to rule the city with martial law, proclaimed:

"The several hundred soldiers who started the disturbances early Wednesday morning are still holding the Nagatacho (central) section of Tokyo, but the commander of the martial law administration is taking appropriate measures to deal with them."

These advices broke a long period of silence during the late hours of the night and this morning while a severe censorship indicated the situation was becoming increasingly acute.

Emperor Hirohito continued his efforts to construct a government to replace the one wiped out by the rebels' guns.

A force of more than 4,000 loyal troops beleaguered the rebels.

The Exchange Telegraph Agency reported a warning was broadcast to persons in the vicinity of the premier's residence, headquarters of the disaffected troops, to remove to safer areas.

AFFECTS COST OF INSURANCE

Smith Tells Council About Prospects of Rate Boost If Firemen Are Laid Off.

LEGISLATION READ AGAIN

Ordinances Proposing Drastic Expense Slash Up for Final Action Tonight.

Prospects of an increase in fire insurance rates here as the result of proposed cut in the personnel of the fire department held attention of councilmen last night as they met to read for the second time ordinances designed to bring the city's expenses this year within the estimated revenue.

In a statement to council members Mayor F. C. Smith said he hoped a way yet might be found to avoid the extremity of laying off six firemen as proposed in the ordinance now before council and the subsequent increase in insurance rates.

"I hope by this time the citizens of Marion realize the necessity of maintaining an adequate fire department. People are now beginning to ask what the proposed layoff will do to the insurance rates. That is exactly what we want them to do. The people must come to a full realization of the extremely serious situation the city faces.

"It's no fault of the administration that the city is short of money. And it is no fault of the administration that the fire insurance rates depend on the number of men in the fire department. But it is the concern of the administration to maintain the best possible fire protection and at the same time get control of the city's finances. Before we get through with this proposition I believe the citizens will realize that we want to keep these men in the department and will lay them off only when it is absolutely necessary. Let it be understood by the public that we are still making every effort to maintain the department as it is now. A way yet may be found to avoid this extremity."

Attorney Speaks

Attorney Grant E. Mosier Jr., who appeared before council Wednesday night as a representative of firemen in regard to legislation adversely affecting them, spoke briefly on the ordinance. He declared he was glad to hear Mayor Smith say that firemen would be laid off only as a last resort but pointed out to council that if the ordinance is passed Friday night its provisions must be carried out as soon as it becomes effective.

C. Dudley Williams, who operates a barber shop on North State street, offered what he termed a solution to the city's problem in regard to the fire department. He proposed that the city hall be moved to either the Davids street school building or the North Main street school building, now unused. The money the city would save on rent of the present quarters would go a long way toward keeping the six men in the department, he said.

Need of Pathologist

Mayor Smith addressed council later in the session in regard to the proposal to employ a pathologist at the City hospital. "It is difficult to overestimate the importance of this position to the hospital," he said. "It is something that has been needed for a long time and will do much to raise the standard of the hospital."

The mayor told council his plan is to eventually combine the duties of the pathologist and city health commissioner, "formerly [illegible] should get the salary," he said, "but ... [illegible] ... can not afford ... [illegible]

SEED CORN DAMAGED BY SEVERE WEATHER

Germination Tests Show High Percentage of Grain Made Valueless

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Feb 25—Nature had taken corn production control into her own hands an agricultural expert said today and presented Ohio farmers with the prospect of the worst seed corn situation since that of 1918

R D Lewis professor of agronomy at Ohio State university said that germination tests conducted in various counties showed that a high percentage of last corn submitted was absolutely unfit for seed

He cited a Madison county test which showed 493 ears out of 500 were unfit a test in Clark county eliminated 52 out of 65 ears Muskingum county prover better than average with four lots of 10 germinating perfectly two germinating 70 per cent three to a germinating from 50 to 85 per cent and four from 18 to 40 per cent Of 37 lots tested in Meigs county only six germinated better than 90 per cent

He attributed the poor quality of this year's corn to two major factors the high moisture content of the kernel and the abnormally cold weather of the winter and estimated that between 500 000 and 600 000 bushels of seed corn would be needed to plant Ohio s 3 000 000 acres of corn land

OUSTED NAVAL OFFICER STRIKES BACK AT ROPER

Claims Publication of Report and Not Insubordination Real Cause of His Dismissal.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Feb 27 Commander H McCoy Jones declared last night the charge he was insubordinate to superior officers in the commerce department was "strictly a cover for the real charge - that he made public an unauthorized report on steamboat inspection

Dismissed by Secretary Roper effective Saturday Jones was permitted to resign effective yesterday from his $4 000 a year position as senior navigation officer in the bureau of navigation and steamboat inspection

Jones said the violent and explosive insubordination which Roper found substantiated was my extreme loyalty to my bureau and to my chief

Jones and Frederick I Adams another bureau official who also was discharged had declined to answer questions during absence from the capital of Joseph B Weaver chief of the bureau, on publication of a resolution of the department's board of supervising inspectors alleging inadequate inspection of American ships

By The Associated Press

The storm continued to blow on Capitol Hill over the dismissing of Hagood On the senate side the word terrorism was used again coupled with a Republican assertion that the exiling of the general was discovered in advance by the White House cabinet meeting

Fan at Findlay Complains Over Lack of Snakes

By The Associated Press

FINDLAY O Feb 28—A new lament on the passing of the good old days came today from Roy W Clinton amateur naturalist who complained that reptiles are becoming mighty scarce around Findlay

Clinton whose hobby has been snake study since he left Ohio Northern university at Ada said that years ago there must have been plenty of snakes here--big snakes

But the clearing of land destroyed their habitat he said farm implements kill hundreds every year

Fellow townsmen failed to join in Clinton's complaint although he insisted that snakes will become as tame as kittens if you treat them right

Rule No 1 in handling snakes he said is to avoid sudden movements

Pick up Mr Snake slowly he directed He does not like quick movements

Use psychology on them—if you are afraid they might attack you You have to use psychology just like the lion trainer

Clinton for a time had as a special pet a five-and-one-half foot blue racer he picked up near McComb

But the neighbors objected because he was so big—so I had to take him back to the woods he said

Sheep fed a special diet at the University of California for six months produced more than 300 per cent more wool than sheep fed a ration of which was more than 50 per

Garbo Too Heavy Around the Hips Says Dietician

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Feb 28—Benjamin Gayelord Hauser Viennese diet specialist who doesn't care what happens to him, arrived in America yesterday and announced that

Greta Garbo is a little too heavy around the hips

Mae West is not fat—yet—but she'd better start eating salads

Marlene Dietrich is getting thinner and losing vitality

Katharine Hepburn is undernourished

Hauser however knows all the answers to this series of problems. He's the diet expert who two years ago persuaded Hollywood stars they could drink their spinach and carrots and get the same effect

Garbo he advised should go on a semi reducing diet "She eats too much but not of the right things" he explained to an accompaniment of fog horns on the deck of the Conte di Savoia

RHINE TROOPS DISTURB PARIS

Question of Border Remilitarization To Be Brought Before League Next Week.

By The Associated Press

PARIS Feb 28—France turned her attention to the Rhineland on her eastern frontier today with a determination to bring the question of remilitarization before the League of Nations at Geneva next week.

Conscious of repeated reports that Germany has thronged the Rhineland with troops informed circles said Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin is expected to call the attention of leading powers to the danger inherent in such a move by the third reich

Ratify Russian Alliance

With ratification of the Franco-Soviet mutual assistance pact carrying guaranties of aid in the event Germany should attack either Russia or France over its first hurdle—the chamber of deputies—the problem of possible German aggression is expected to be advanced forcefully by the French

These same informed quarters insisted France would move for abandonment of the plan for oil sanctions against Italy when the league's committee of 18 convenes

Reports that the French attitude was the result of a secret promise from Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy that he would not ally himself with Germany were scouted in authoritative quarters

Claim U S Must Halt Trade

The French stand reported to have been arrived at in a cabinet meeting yesterday was reported to be that the United States held the key to a successful oil embargo against Italy If the United States the argument purportedly ran continued to export oil to Italy it would render the entire plan for an embargo ineffective

Friends Wonder Why She Looks So Much Better

MRS ETHEL HILLIARD

"I suffered from constipation My skin looked dull and lifeless and I could see little pimples under the skin just ready to break out This made my complexion look rough and unattractive My digestion was poor and after meals I would have sourness gas and shortness of breath My head would ache I was nervous lost a lot of sleep and just felt tired out most all the time says Mrs Ethel Hilliard residing on Route 2 Navarre Ohio

After taking Vendol and the little Vendol Laxative Tablets I soon noticed the constipation was relieved and I became regular every day My appetite was improved my digestion was better and now nothing seems to disagree with my stomach any more All the sourness gas and acid risings have passed off and my nerves are steady I enjoy sound restful sleep and that tired aches feeling was replaced by refreshed energy My skin has cleared up and all signs of pimples have disappeared My friends wonder why I look so much better and I always tell them about Vendol"

For a sluggish liver disordered stomach constipation headaches there seems to be nothing better than Vendol the new medicine which is doing so much good in this section Nearly every one who takes it praises it That is the best thing that can be said about any medicine

VENDOL is sold by all the leading druggists everywhere and is highly recommended here by

WILENTZ WON'T FIGHT A SECOND REPRIEVE

Will Let Governor Act as He Chooses, Doesn't Believe New Evidence Has Been Found

By The Associated Press

TRENTON N J Feb 28—An authoritative source said today Attorney General David T Wilentz chief prosecutor of Bruno Richard Hauptmann will not oppose a second reprieve for the convicted slayer of Col Charles A Lindbergh's first son

Wilentz the source said will neither oppose the reprieve nor consent to it but will stand aside and let Gov Harold G Hoffman make his own decision whether to delay further Hauptmann's death sentence without interference from the attorney general's office

The attorney general will remain passive on the governor's contention that more than one person was implicated in the crime that the testimony of some state witnesses would bear closer scrutiny and that prosecution officials have withheld important information in the case

Wilentz the source said does not believe any new evidence has been developed in the governor's private investigation

Hauptmann's sentence will be executed the week of March 30 Gov Hoffman's reprieve of Jan 30 came 29 hours before he was to die in the electric chair

Wilentz called that reprieve illegal and the governor said he would not grant a second unless he and the attorney general agreed the circumstances warranted

The governor's latest attack—on the identification testimony of Joseph Perrone Bronx taxicab driver who delivered the note to Dr John F (Jafsie) Condon on the night of March 1 1932 instructing him how to meet the kidnaper—elicited no comment today from Wilentz

THREAT OF SERIOUS FLOOD IS PASSING

debris ripped ice blocks from the first floors of their homes

At Lebanon Postmaster Charles Stanley Barnhart equipped mail carriers with boats and they had to sail in to their automobiles from seas of mud

State Highway Director John Jenner Jr said the damage to highways was the greatest in any winter since 1913 largely because of holes created by the sudden changes in temperature

Wind Wrecks Boat

Below Cincinnati the wind blew the $20000 Kanawha towboat Kelly against a guide wall at Dam No 29 damaging it to such an extent that fears were expressed it would sink

Flood threats eliminated over most of the stricken states

Pennsylvania and Kansas were the principal exceptions There ice jammed rivers continued to menace lowlands A big ice gorge in the Allegheny river sent it early today and in its path Pittsburgh where a 25 foot stage three feet above flood was expected The rivers there already swept into basements of the business district causing three deaths in western Pennsylvania and great property damage

In Kansas more than a score of farm families fled their homes after dynamite failed to dislodge ice jams in the Missouri river near Oak Mills Flood warnings were issued to farmers in the bottom lands and islands near Kickapoo

TOKYO REBELS DEFY SURRENDER DEMANDS

Singapore announced the rebels had submitted but no evidence was yet in hand that they had begun to withdraw from their strong holds

Imperial princes and officers of the army high command still in the plot incriminating influences in the conversations looking toward the formation of a government to replace that of the elder Premier Okada With Okada died three other high officials of the civil machinery

All indications pointed to the establishment of a military or fascist government, with the possibility that Gen Sadao Araki strong exponent of militarism and ardent nationalist, would be named premier

Report Army Dictatorship

A Reuters (British) News Agency dispatch from Shanghai to London related an unconfirmed report through diplomatic channels that Araki already had established a military dictatorship This was not borne out by advices directly from Tokyo though newspaper men there were contending with a rigid censorship

Japanese in Shanghai said that if a dictator emerged from the Tokyo negotiations he was likely to be Gen Jinzaburo Mazaki former inspector-general of military education

They expressed relief also that rumors of street fighting in Tokyo and the establishment of a military dictatorship under Araki would likely prove untrue

Obtaining surrender of the rebels led by only a captain and a few subordinates seemed to be the most vexing problem incident to the uprising by young army officers who resorted to assassination to remove corrupt influences from around the throne

Believe Action Delayed

Reuters reported they were given until noon to surrender In later negotiations but eight princes conferred at the Imperial palace late in the afternoon hours after this time limit had expired

Several Americans who reported to the United States embassy that their movements had been restricted were advised to remain at home until the trouble blew over

The rebels in turn firmly but politely ejected several American tourists from the Sanno hotel In addition to this hostelry they were in possession of the premier's residence the Peers club and the Horaku restaurant

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI O Feb 28 Members of alimony clubs the country over and those who have lost breach of promise suits learned ruefully today that neither the alimony nor the heart balm may be deducted from income tax reports due March 15

She doesn't unless for instance she wins a beauty prize in cash Then the government steps in to claim a share

Damages collected for alienation of affections breach of promise personal injury, slander and libel aren't taxable, but the fellow who has settled cannot under the rules deduct the payment from his income Moreover he must report and pay on attorney's fees

Borah Attacks Backers of Taft

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Feb 28—The launching of a favorite son campaign in Ohio against Sen Borah's presidential candidacy today coincided with publication of a letter in which Borah sharply attacked such moves

Not long after the Republican state central committee of Ohio had selected Robert A Taft son of the 1st president to wage a primary struggle with Borah the latter's letter was made public

It did not however refer to Taft's candidacy particularly (it was written before the candidacy became known) Addressed to the Spokesman Review Spokane Wash which had urged Borah to attack the Roosevelt administration rather than his own party the letter said

I am not attacking the Republican party

I am insisting upon an open national convention upon the selection of delegates by the voters as nearly as practicable rather than the old system in which the people were denied practically all voice in the selection of their presidential—the old system of unbridled delegate favorite sons and bartering and trading for candidates at the convention"

While the Republican race quickened in Ohio that state was one of the 11 to be Chairman James A Farley of the Democratic national committee as sure to go to President Roosevelt in the fall

Col Frank Knox in Phoenix Ariz last night declared in an address to young Republicans that the nation is standing in the presence of a danger that has not been matched since 1860"

The fundamentals of a free government are endangered by the planned economy of the new deal and its acts such as the NRA and the AAA which sought to centralize the government in Washington he said

GRANTED PAROLES

Among Mansfield reformatory prisoners granted paroles today by the state parole board are Leroy Weiland of Marion and Clifford Almendinger of Delaware The Associated Press reported Weiland who was sent up from here Jan 10 1934 on a robbery charge will be released May 1 and Almendinger also convicted of robbery, will get out July 1.

Your Health
BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Rheumatism

It is encouraging to learn that a recent health survey reports a marked reduction in the number of fatalities from acute rheumatic fever. At one time this was a dreaded disease. New knowledge concerning it has been acquired within recent years.

For a long time rheumatism was confused with neuritis, arthritis, neuralgia and other similar painful afflictions. Little distinction was made between the acute form of rheumatic fever and the chronic form more commonly spoken of as rheumatism. Today the disorder is definitely recognized and may be distinguished in its early stages from other muscular or nerve pains.

Though the actual cause of this baffling disease has never been discovered it is probably due to some germ or micro-organism. It is more common in children than in adults. There is believed to be some hereditary tendency because the ailment is frequently encountered in more than one member of a family.

As a rule the victim first complains of a sore throat or running nose. This results frequently in confusing it with a simple head cold. The early symptoms are soon followed by high fever, sweating, prostration and severe pain in the joints of the body. Two or three joints may be involved at one time.

Serious Disease

The attack may last from one to several weeks. If many joints are involved the attacks last much longer.

Since the disease is more common in children of school age and the first attacks are mild in their nature the disturbance is sometimes looked upon as due to growing pains. Bear in mind that there is no such thing as growing pains. Severe and persistent pain in the legs, arms or shoulders warrants investigation.

I cannot overstate the importance of the early recognition of acute rheumatic fever and the need of prompt medical attention. Acute rheumatic fever is a serious disease. It causes 40 per cent of all cases of heart disease. When the heart is involved it often leads to permanent disability and invalidism over a period of years.

Sufferers from acute rheumatic fever require prolonged medical attention. Every effort should be made to prevent involvement of the heart. The patient should not be discouraged. He should be made to understand that recovery is slow but that serious damage to the heart can only be prevented by prolonged rest in bed.

Dr Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send addressed stamped envelopes with their questions. Address all letters to Dr Copeland in care of this newspaper at its main office in this city.

GOOD GARDENING

SHADE WORK

Don't let your zeal for turning the good earth lead you to putting a spade into the garden too early or before the last of the winter rains have dried out well. It's hard to say just how much moisture is right but here's a good test. Squeeze a handful of soil and drop it. If the soil remains stuck together like too wet to work. Don't spare your back in spading and rake right along behind the spading breaking up the lumps and clods while they're still moist. In all cases manure—or the best available substitute—should be turned under. The whole garden should be hoed over to a depth of four or five inches to prepare it for planting after it has been spaded as deep as the good soil goes.

Emperor's Private Physician Arrives at Dessye by Plane with Surgical Instruments

By United Press

ROME, Feb. 15—Conflicting rumors that Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia either is ill or has been wounded at Dessye were published in Italian newspapers today. They were without confirmation from any reliable source.

Indians Breathe Easier After Mel Harder Signs

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, O, Feb 28—Officials of the Cleveland Baseball club owner of the Cleveland Indians are in excellent spirits these days chiefly because their pitching ace Mel Harder has signed on the dotted line for another two years

Although they insist that at no time was Harder considered a holdout the club owners made no bones about breathing a sigh of relief when Mel gave his signature to Cyril C Slapnicka assistant to President Alva Bradley

Slapnicka claims he considers no player a holdout until the spring training season opens and, therefore Harder was not a holdout when he delayed in signing the contract which was caused by the mere matter of a couple thousand dollars he said However it seems read that his former teammate and roommate Wes Ferrell was getting $18 000 with the Boston Red Sox this year, and thought he was just as valuable to the Indians as Ferrell was to the Cleveland ... considered by many as one of the outstanding right handed pitchers in the American League compromised and signed for two years at $14 000 a year it is understood

The fair-haired boy of the Tribe is feeling good about it too recalling that the largest salary ever paid to an Indian player was $18 000—that to Ferrell in 1931 Harder won 22 games and lost 11 in 1935 and has announced he is out to better that mark this year

Harder was willed to the Indians by the former owners of the club the late E S Barnard president and his associates who obtained the popular pitcher from Omaha of the Western league Barney Burch owner of the Omaha club came to Cleveland in 1927 for a loan and was given $6 500 by Barnard with the understanding the Indians had an option on Omaha at that figure

It was through this deal that Cleveland obtained Harder for $6 500 At that time he was 17 years old just out of high school and had won 15 games in two months for Dubuque a farm for the Omaha club

Harder reported to the Indians for the 1928 spring training season at New Orleans and at once achieved the good graces of Roger Peckinpaugh manager and Billy Evans general manager at that time They decided to retain him as batting practice pitcher instead of placing him with Omaha on option

He saw service in 23 games that year being sent in for an inning or two for experience In 1929 he was sent to New Orleans a farm for the Cleveland team and won seven games losing two Toward the end of the season he returned to Cleveland and marked up his first major league victory

Evans who resigned recently as general manager of the Indians considers Harder the most valuable member of the Cleveland pitching staff and the best right hander in the game

At the Front.

Reports from the National Educational association meeting in St Louis show plainly that school teachers are acutely apprehensive over threats to their liberty They see clearly that circumstances have placed them in the front line of the battle to defend their intellectual freedom

They are not fighting one enemy but several Communists would like to line up the teachers on their side and Americas incipient fascists are just as eager to have the teachers on their side It isn't a fight to stave off communism, as William Randolph Hearst says it is but a fight to stave off all enemies of intellectual freedom including the aforementioned Mr Hearst.

In other words the struggle for the right to shape the minds of children after a good many centuries of fury and occasional bloodshed still is going on as usual And the children as always are the real victims Whatever protection they have they owe to their embattled instructors

Will It Explode?

In view of the well known tendency of public money to adhere to political fingers it has been predicted frequently in the last few years that the greatest scandal of all time would be caused by the expenditure of relief funds under President Roosevelt Never before has so tempting an opportunity been provided

So far the bomb hasn't exploded It has sputtered and sizzled but never long enough or disturbingly enough to get more than casual attention Virtually every citizen has observed or heard of instances in which relief money was misused In most cases of course, the misuse was related more closely to inefficiency than to dishonesty

In some cases however downright dishonesty was indicated by the evidence However because the cases were scattered and because the amounts were small in relation to the governments enormous relief expenditures little excitement has been caused by the prospect of a major scandal It has seemed too remote

Senate Republicans however are demanding an investigation of WPA administration in every state due to dismissal of Maj Gen Johnson Hagood for criticizing relief administration Young Sen Holt of West Virginia has charged that relief money is being used for political purposes in his state Sen Couzens of Michigan has attacked the administration for finding jobs paying $90 000 a year to Walter I Cummings Democratic national treasurer

Is the bomb going to explode?

Deflated Inflaters.

The inflation bloc in congress is losing its pressure Opponents have made pinholes in it Supposed friends have kicked with its valve stem A state of collapse is imminent observers predict

That doesn't imply of course that the idea of making everything lovely by printing more money has gone out of style It means merely that the threat of inflation in 1936 has ceased to be an important political factor Inflation as a theory is timeless Inflation blocs still will be rallying round it a thousand years from now

What is the composition of an inflation bloc? If it could be advertised sufficiently there might be an end eventually to the inflation bogey because inflation blocs do not stand up well under scrutiny

Invariably they are found to be divisible into three groups crackpots hypocrites and manipulators The crackpots are sincere The hypocrites are afraid to take a stand The manipulators are planning to make a killing

Least dangerous of the three groups are the crackpots who have nothing but zeal to support them The other groups use the crackpots to do their dirty work for them when there is dirty work to be done and the crackpots usually get so busy with their own campaigns that they don't tumble to the fact they are holding the bag until it's too late Apparently someone has waked up ahead of schedule this time

No Demand.

There are individuals and organizations in the United States believing there is a strong demand for legislation to take the place of the unconstitutional industrial and business control sections of the national industrial recovery act They never have abandoned hope of carrying through the theory of regimentation which was reduced to absurdity under Gen Johnson and denied constitutional status by the supreme court

Yet corporations whose sensitive ears always are laid to the ground, are showing no interest in the creation of another Blue eagle Their lack of interest is the best evidence available on the country's attitude toward further experimentation with NRA Congressmen not only are cold to further ideas about controlling business but to further ideas about controlling anything at all

Less than a year ago however it would have been a good bet that the theory of NRA was a permanent part of the government's obligation to its citizens When the supreme court ruled against the new deal in the Schechter case new dealers predicted immediately that the Blue eagle experiment would be continued in substantially the same form Nothing has shown more strikingly what happened to government in the emergency of 1933 than inability in 1936 to recapture the spirit of NRA

They Live by the Sword

The United States knows enough about professional militarists to understand what experts believe is the motive for Japan's latest political assassinations Men who live by the sword develop a clannishness and a conception of importance which frequently make them a potent political factor In a nation where authority must be backed up directly with guns to make it effective militarists inevitably become politicians because they hold the balance of power

The military fascists would like to control Japan observers say It intends to fight ruthlessly for the prestige it derives Invasion of Manchuria was a military stroke the rest of the government had no choice of decisions War with Russia would be a military affair With generals and admirals speaking for nations what else could there be but war? Fighting is their business it also is their pleasure

Last weeks parliamentary elections frightened the militarists The popular vote was interpreted as a rebuke to their policies The issue was defined with painful clearness militarists had been challenged to defend their conception of governmental authority With characteristic directness militarists sympathizers did what it was natural for them to do—they turned to violence

Due to censorship it will be several days at least until much is known of the assassinations It would be a surprise however to learn as information trickles through the barriers erected against it that Japans professional bloodletters are not at the bottom of the mischief

Something Missing.

A well known eastern university it is reported requires students in certain courses to take special training in job getting before they can graduate There is after all no sense in training a young man to be a specialist without telling him how to find a place to exercise his talent

Further perusal of the plan is disappointing however It doesn't tell the jobseeker how to get a job but merely how to act when he is asking for a job Whatever merit there may be in making a good impression on a prospective employer or his agent the big thing is ability to hold a job Furthermore there's deception —unintentional no doubt—in the phrase job getting unless it is used to explain how a job may be got

That is to say there's something missing in the setup It's like a course in skiing which tells the pupil what to wear how to look and what to say but fails to explain how to keep the skis from getting criss crossed It seems safe to predict that the first university which guarantees to tell young men how to get jobs will put all the others out of business

Difficult Problem for Utilities

Ravages of Government Competition Regarded as More Serious Than "Death Sentence" Law

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star)

WASHINGTON, Feb 28 — Study of the unanimous opinion rendered by the three judges sitting in the United States circuit court of appeals Fourth circuit, would seem to indicate that the supreme court of the United States will probably declare unconstitutional the public utility holding company act, at least insofar as 50 per cent of the industry is concerned and possibly the whole act will be found invalid

What the utility industry would appear to be up against nowadays is not the famous death sentence law regulating or attempting to destroy holding companies but another kind of death—the cancerous ravages of government competition

Thus the senate is already debating a bill to advance money to local organizations to develop rural electrification but companies already in business are excluded from any form of government loans Instead of using government money in a plan that gives private companies a chance to compete on equal terms with organizations favored by government agencies the scope of the proposed measure evidently is to set up a rural electrification plan tantamount to government entry into the electrical business on a wide scale

Administration leaders are saying that nothing like $1 000 000 000 the first amount mentioned will be appropriated but evidently the Roosevelt regime is getting ready to indorse a plan for government competition that will fit in with the establishment of such agencies as the TVA authority and with operations of the PWA which lends money to municipalities that can build their own plants and duplicate existing distribution systems

The courts have plenty of suits ahead to restrain the PWA from using federal money to aid municipalities in their competition with private companies and in the latest case in the circuit court of appeals the government won on the ground that damage to the private utility had not been proved

It begins to look as if the use of federal funds will afford considerable basis for legal controversy and that it is going to be difficult for companies to prove that they are threatened with damage until they are faced with actual construction of plants It is rumored that one important utility has offered to sell out to the federal government to protect its investment but that the offer was declined Certainly the alternative which some utilities may soon be faced with is whether they will wait till competing systems are built when their own properties will have consequently dropped considerably in market value or whether they will offer to sell under virtual compulsion of circumstances as was the case in Knoxville Tenn

If the federal government wants to go into the power business there are many utility men who feel that it would be better for government ownership to come now than after a long drawn out competition in which utility properties would suffer loss in value The question of course of where the money is coming from to buy out the utilities whose investment is anywhere from $10 000 000 000 to $15 000 000 000 is something that has to be decided just as any other drain on the already unbalanced federal budget Then there's the matter of competition between water power and coal It is a mystery why the coal miners who will presumably be affected most by the development of water power plants are not much more concerned than they appear to be in the controversy It may be they feel that the government entry into the power business is likely to be thwarted at the polls as the issue of federal expenses before entrenchment in TVA and other power projects is in the next few years

Meanwhile the battle in the courts on the holding company issue is vital not only to the utilities but to all corporations that have subsidiaries scattered throughout the country Judge Soper who handed down the opinion on behalf of himself and Judges Parker and Northcott in the latest holding company case dealt with most all the important phases of constitutionality While there was one concluding paragraph taking issue with Judge Coleman's sweeping statement that the entire act was unconstitutional there is no doubt left how closely the three judges concur in the Coleman opinion as to virtually all the essential points

The first of all Judge Soper says it was a bona fide case and declares the suspicions of the representatives of the government were without foundation When they charged collusion He points out first that the American States Public Service company was not obliged to register and that neither this company nor its subsidiaries could be reorganized and yet comply with the public utility holding company act

Perhaps the most interesting aspect of the three judge decision is the significant declaration that congress has no power to regulate holding companies either under the commerce clause or under the postal power or under the decisions governing the pooling of cars in interstate commerce such as automobiles used by criminals or thieves or the transport of articles which are themselves deleterious to health

The holding company act said Judge Soper does not merely prohibit the use of the instrumentalities of commerce for fraudulent or unfair purposes but prohibits activities of the kind already described whether harmful or not in so sweeping a fashion as to make it impossible for a holding company covered by the act to carry on its business without registration and without submission to the regulation of the commission in many important particulars

"The holding company act goes much farther for it seeks not merely to control the use of the means of distribution but in many material respects the business of the user

This is substantially what John W Davis and his associate counsel contended for in their arguments before the court. The quotations cited by Judge Soper from supreme court opinions such as in the Schechter case and the AAA case indicate clearly that efforts to interfere with problems that are reserved to the states will probably be banned by the high court with respect to holding company ownership and management and that the only part of the law which will remain is that which refers to companies actually engaged in the interstate transmission of electricity.

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON Feb 28 If there is anything you do not understand about Washington developments of the day just consider that this is a campaign year Nine times out of ten that will give you the right answer Every four years the primary problem of government is the election but this year the problem is developing more priority and primitivity than usual It is the motivating power which animates all

Balanced

You will never find a more evenly balanced example than the latest events leading up to President Roosevelt's veto of the seed loan bill The White House spread the word among congressional leaders several days before that Mr Roosevelt was going to crack down on such expenditures Not only would he veto the $50 000 000 idea but he would use the bill to promote the economizing line upon which he has been quietly working It was a good opportunity because even the congressional leaders last year thought the seed loan policy was so bad that the president promised it would never happen again It puts the government in the very uncomfortable position of handing seeds to the farmers with one hand while also paying him to curtail his production with the other

Conference

Soon there came to the White House on a trot no less respected political authority than Senate Leader Robinson No one knows exactly what he told the President but everyone knows he comes from a region where seed loans are appreciated by a lot of people The people just must have their seeds no matter who had said what etc

But Mr Roosevelt had already told congress he would not sign any extra budgetary bills which did not carry taxes for raising the money What about that?

Shrewd and capable Mr Robinson figured that one out fast He worked out a compromise whereby he would get his seeds and Mr Roosevelt his budget The President could veto the $50 000 000 bill and then spend whatever money was necessary for seed loans out of left overs from the 1935 appropriations That was done Even a President cannot do what he would like to in a campaign year

Similar

The technical inner aspects of Gen Hugood's removal have the same political background but developed an entirely different twist

A certain well known anti new deal promotion agency was itching to use Hugood's reference to WPA wage money at the time it was made The agency decided not to on the ground that it would not have been effective It was filed away for future reference

It did not rest long in the file before Hugood was removed from command That made it entirely different material from a publicity standpoint The free speech angle alone lifted it out of the realm of minor misdemeanors Everyone able to read has now heard about it

Thus whatever the merits of the disciplinary action It became a major publicity blunder

Visitors

Mr Roosevelt has been having unadvertised political conferences during the past few weeks Many a legislator and prominent citizen who comes into the executive mansion on other business is asked to tarry for political consultation When these visitors emerge they announce the prime object of their business but not the political aftermath A recent example was Senator Wheeler He had a long talk with the chief executive and published reports said that railroad legislation was discussed It was but that was only one tenth of it Most of the legislators who have been called in for these sub rosa political consultations have been westerners

Slip

Britain has a way of keeping her military secrets secret but one has slipped across the seas via diplomatic channels

If you happen to be on the quay at Alexandria Egypt these days you would see proof of it In the harbor Extensive dredging operations are under way It was not revealed at the time but when Britain sent its warships into Alexandria at the height of the Italian tension it was found the harbor would not hold them The overflow had to be dispatched to Haifa

Also there was no reserve ammunition available at Alexandria then for the sixteen inch guns of Britains mightiest dreadnaughts the Rodney and Nelson If those ships had used the ammunition they carried they would have been at the mercy of the Italian fleet That situation also has been remedied

Novel

A western adviser to Mr Roosevelt has told his colleagues in the senatorial cloakroom that the president should take a four year rest and run again in 1940 His novel argument is that whoever tries to bring order out of the present political situation will dig a grave for himself in history and elsewhere The novelty purveyor has not however suggested that to Mr Roosevelt There is no reason to believe he will

"No. What?"

"That even now, when we're going to be hurled into the next world we still don't know who Evans is."

"Let's ask him," said Frankie. "You know—a last-minute boon. I agree with you that I simply can't die without having my curiosity satisfied."

There was a silence, then Bobby said, "I've got you into an awful mess, Frankie."

"Oh, that's all right. You couldn't have kept me out. I wanted to come in, Bobby, do you think he'll really pull it off? Us, I mean."

"I'm terribly afraid he will. He's so damnably efficient."

"Bobby, do you believe now that it was he who killed Henry Bassington-ffrench?"

"If it were possible—"

"It is possible, granted one thing—that Sylvia Bassington-ffrench is in it too."

"Frankie!"

"I know. I was just as horrified when the idea occurred to me. But it fits. Why was Sylvia so dense about the morphia? Why did she resist so obstinately when we wanted her to send her husband somewhere else instead of the Grange? And then she was in the house when the shot was fired—"

"She might have done it herself."

"Oh, no—surely!"

"Yes, she might. And then have given the key of the study to Nicholson to put in Henry's pocket."

"It's all crazy," said Frankie in a hopeless voice. "Like looking through a distorting mirror. There ought to be some way of telling criminals—eyebrows or ears or something."

"My God" cried Bobby.

"What is it?"

"Frankie, that wasn't Nicholson who came here just now!"

"Have you gone quite mad? Who was it then?"

"I don't know—but it wasn't Nicholson. All along I felt there was something wrong — but couldn't spot it, and you saying 'ears' has given me the cue. When I was watching Nicholson the other evening through the window I specially noticed his ears—the lobes are joined to his face. But this man tonight—his ears weren't like that."

"But what does it mean?" Frankie asked hopelessly.

"This is a very clever actor impersonating Nicholson."

"But why—and who could it be?"

"Bassington-ffrench," breathed Bobby. "We spotted the right man at the beginning and then—like idiots, we went astray after red herrings."

"Bobby, you're right. He was the only person there when I taunted Nicholson about accidents."

"Then it really is all up," said Bobby. "I've still had a kind of sneaking hope that possibly Roger Bassington-ffrench might nose out our trail by some miracle. But now the game's up, Frankie."

As he finished speaking there was a sound overhead. The next minute, with a terrific crash, a heavy body fell through the skylight.

It was too dark to see any thing.

"What the devil—" began Bobby.

From amidst a pile of broken glass a voice spoke.

"B-B-B-Bobby," it said.

"Well, I'm damned," said Bobby. "It's Badger!"

There was not a minute to be lose. Already sounds could be heard on the floor below.

"Quick, Badger, you fool!" said Bobby. "Pull one of my shoes off. Don't argue or ask questions! Haul it off somehow. Chuck it down in the middle there and crawl under that bed. Quick—I tell you."

The key turned. Nicholson—the pseudo-Nicholson — stood in the doorway, candle in hand.

He saw Bobby and Frankie as he had left them, but in the middle of the floor was a pile of broken glass and in the middle of the broken glass was a shoe.

"Very clever, my young friend," he said drily. "Extremely acrobatic."

He came over to Bobby, examined the ropes that bound him and tied a couple of extra knots. He looked at him curiously.

"I wish I knew how you managed to throw that boot through the skylight. It seems almost incredible. A touch of the Houdini about you, my friend."

He looked at them both, up at the broken skylight, then shrugging his shoulders he left the room.

"Quick, Badger."

Badger crawled out from under the bed. He had a pocket-knife and with its aid he soon cut the other two free.

"That's better," said Bobby, stretching himself. "Whew! I'm stiff. Well, Frankie? What about our friend Nicholson?"

"You're right," said Frankie. "It's Roger Bassington-ffrench. Now that I know he's Roger playing the part of Nicholson, I can see it. But it's a pretty good performance all the same."

"A good bluff—but I call it," said Roger.

The three do a little table-turning, tomorrow.

Shakespeare Film Classic Delights Marion Audience

"Midsummer Night's Dream" the Max Reinhardt production of Shakespeare's comedy fantasy which has been acclaimed the foremost contribution to motion picture history opened a two-day stay at the Ohio theater yesterday under auspices of the City Union of King's Daughters.

An audience of approximately 400 saw the picture last night and an even larger attendance was expected for the last presentation this afternoon and tonight. The Kings Daughters share in the proceeds of the ticket sale will be used to carry on the organization's citywide welfare program. A matinee for school pupils only will be given Saturday at 9:30 a. m.

Yesterday's audiences saw an amazing spectacle of the scope of the motion picture art when handled by a producer with the Reinhardt technique. Never before have the full forces of studio ingenuity been brought into such play as in bringing out the lavish-ness and the fantasy of one of the most amusing of Shakespeare's comedies.

Some of Hollywood's foremost actors, especially comedians—talented dancers, expert cameramen and technicians were brought onto one lot to produce the picture. Much could be said of the masterful arrangements of Mendelssohn's music by Erich Korngold, the Wagnerian dances especially the solo work of Nini Theilade the premier ballerina, without mentioning the sheer beauty of the photography, the super fantasy of the forest scenes, the side-splitting comedy of the mechanicals play, the colossal settings and the hundred and one other things.

Mickey Rooney as "Puck," Jamie Cagney as "Bottom," and Victor Jory as Oberon, black king of the fairies, give three of the major performances. Puck and Oberon manage in no time at all, aided by a bit of "love juice" to bring turmoil into the fairies' peaceful woods. But Joe E. Brown, Hugh Herbert, Frank McHugh, Olivia de Havilland, Ross Alexander, Grant Mitchell, Verree Teasdale, Dick Powell, Jean Muir, Ian Hunter, Anita Louise, Dewey Robinson, Hobart Cavanaugh, Otis Harlan, Arthur Treacher and Billy Barty all are excellent.

The picture is a real treat, excellent comedy, beautiful to see and an amazing spectacle.—H. H.

FORMER CCC YOUTH GUILTY OF MURDER

POMEROY, O., Feb. 28—Counsel for 17 year old William Larkins, a former Utah civilian conservation corps worker, promised today an appeal from the youth's conviction by a three judge court yesterday of the slaying of Mrs. Sarah Lawrence, 68, of Hazel, Meigs county during an attempted burglary. Common Pleas Judge C. E. Peoples of Pomeroy, W. R. White of Gallipolis and C. F. Rolland of Athens returned a first degree murder verdict with a mercy recommendation.

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Katherine Tells Madge Why She Can't See Hal.

I LEANED forward, put my hand over Katherine's and clasped it tightly as she said that more than any one else I knew what Jack had meant to her in those early years of her marriage.

For, indeed, I did know the royal happiness that had been the lot of my brother-cousin and his bride in the days before the insidious effects of his World war injuries had changed Jack Bickett from a prince among men to a moody, introspective, tyrannical being, who, if he had not worn out his wife's love, had perceptibly frayed the edges of it.

"Yes, dear girl," I whispered. "I not only know that, but I also know how bravely and truly you have done your part all these years. That is why I am anxious that you should make no error now.

"Forgive me for speaking plainly, but if Jack is now disloyal to you, after all these years in which you have patiently borne things of which even I know only a part, I believe that you will do yourself, Hal—and even Jack—an irreparable wrong if you do not listen to what your heart bids you do.

Madge Advises Her

"If you still love Jack no much that not even his possible faithlessness matters, then you are right in banishing Hal from your life—perhaps right in refusing to see him, although I personally do not think so. To my mind his years of devotion merit a dismissal from your own lips, not a cold message sent to him by someone else.

"On the other hand, if, as I suspect, it is your heart that is championing Hal's cause, and your conscience that of your husband, I do not think you should decide anything until you have proof positive of Jack's loyalty or disloyalty. Put Hal Meredith off, but do not decide against him finally until you yourself, know where you stand."

She was silent again, her head averted, her figure rigid, the only sign of understanding the fingers which quivered and clung tensely to mine. And when at last she spoke it was with the voice of a woman utterly spent.

Can She Tell?

"Was ever a woman so torn as I?" she said with a hopeless mournfulness that brought a lump to my throat. "I know the truth of every word you have uttered, Madge; yet I do not believe I can make you understand that it is not all duty to Jack, nor pity for Hal I—I do not know myself at all. All I know is that I must not see Hal—must not—dare not, if you want to put it that way."

"And you shall not," I said soothingly. "I will tell him that you are in no shape to see anyone; that you must be left alone until you know what you want to do. Tell me, will you authorize me to tell Hal of that letter from Ruth Allen and of our conjectures concerning it? May I tell him of my letter to Jack, enclosing the first message, and of the final, and most damning fact, that we never have had a reply to that letter? Will you let me tell him all these things?"

I thought she never would answer that last barrage of questions. But finally she countered with a query of her own.

Hard to Promise

"If I do," she said, "will you guarantee that Hal will not try to see me for this summer at least?"

I felt my pulses skip. A moment before she had insisted that she never would consent to see Hal Meredith again. Yet here she was implying that she might give him a hearing upon her return to the farm, a return which, when we left, she had said she would not make, intending to hide permanently from Hal Meredith.

"I cannot answer for Hal," I said, "but I think I shall be able to persuade him to that. But you know as well as I you ought to promise to give him a chance to see you in the fall."

"Don't ask me to promise that now," she said impassionedly. "Can't you see how hard it is not to make that promise?"

"Yes, I can, my dear," I told her, "and I won't trouble you any more about it. I promise you, now, upon my honor, that I will not give Hal the slightest clue to your whereabouts, and I will try to persuade him to give up his search for you until the summer is over at least."

"And—and—will you write me just what you said and he said, and how he looks," she faltered, and it took all my will-power to keep from smiling at her sig-nificantly. But I made her the promise casually, and rising, left her to herself and her memories while I walked toward the winding road down which the children were coming.

The Stars Say--

For Saturday, Feb. 29

A DAY OF what is known astrologically as one of "mixed influences" is read from the prevailing mutual and lunar aspects of the planets. Things will be under high stimulus for initiative and enterprise, with much opportunity for all pertaining to writings, advertising, publishing and promotion.

Those whose birthday it is may find some excellent opportunities in connection with writings, publication, publicity and promotion. Although there is a configuration meaning hard work with obstacles, yet employment is not well aspected.

A child born on this day may be adaptable, cultured, intellectual and industrious, socially popular and gracious.

PREVENT DANGERS OF CONSTIPATION*

"Bulk" in ALL-BRAN Is Gentle in Action

Common constipation is largely due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. You fail to get your internal exercise. Millions of people have found that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies soft "bulk" with satisfactory results.

Tests in nutrition laboratories demonstrate that the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN can be used with the utmost confidence. Naturally, those few individuals with diseased or highly sensitive intestines should not take "bulk" in any form—either in leafy vegetables or in bran.

Unlike cathartics, ALL-BRAN is natural in its action—nor does this food lose its effectiveness with continued use. Within the body, it absorbs moisture and cleanses the intestines, promoting normal and healthful elimination.

Two tablespoonfuls of this delicious cereal, served with milk or cream, are usually sufficient. Enjoy it also in cooked dishes.

Help your family keep well. Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FARLEY VISIONS BIG '36 VICTORY

Says Vote Will Exceed 1932 Proportions on Return from Swing Around Country.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—Unterrified by polls indicating a recession of the popularity of President Roosevelt and the new deal, Postmaster General James A. Farley today returned from a western trip predicting the President would be reelected by a larger electoral vote than he received in 1932.

Asked whether the Republican presidential primary fight in Ohio gave him any encouragement, Farley said he was encouraged by "the Republican situation in every state."

Farley spoke Saturday night at Topeka, Kan., home of Gov. Alf Landon, outstanding possibility for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I am not disturbed about Kansas," he said. "I believe the President could beat Landon in his own state."

Even if the Republicans nominate a candidate from the middle west, Farley gave it as his opinion the President would not lose a single farm state.

"And I think we are going to carry Pennsylvania," he added. "Every information I have is to that effect. We certainly didn't have John Lewis (president of the United Mine Workers of America) with us in 1932, and he influences a lot of votes in Pennsylvania."

The committee on arrangements for the Democratic national convention at Philadelphia will meet in April to select a temporary chairman or keynoter and possibly a permanent chairman.

Gov. McNutt Mentioned

Among those being discussed for temporary chairman is Gov. Paul McNutt of Indiana, recently an overnight guest at the White House. Sen. Bennett C. Clark of Missouri is being considered for one of the important convention posts. A spokesman for the national committee said today Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, senate majority leader, might be permanent chairman.

The Roosevelt managers also must select someone to put the president in nomination. Sen. Robert Wagner of New York, a close adviser of the President and staunch new dealer, may be selected.

One of the few fights ahead in the Democratic convention will be over abrogation of the historic two-thirds rule and the unit rule. Farley said today the subject would be considered by the rules committee, but he would hazard no guess concerning the convention's action. In the 1932 convention the Roosevelt supporters started a move to repeal the two-thirds rule when a deadlock was threatened over the presidential nomination but were persuaded later by Farley to abandon the proposal.

DEFENDANT WINS $4,000 FOR BEATING

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., Feb. 28—Kenneth Williams, 19, of Lakeview, won $4,000 damages in common pleas court yesterday from Sheriff W. E. Kelley of Auglaize county, and R. W. Steen, Erie railroad detective of Lima, for a beating he suffered Dec. 6, 1934.

Williams charged he was the victim of "third degree" methods which permanently injured him. He sued for $5,000.

Men Who May Be Nominated

One of a Series on Republican Presidential Possibilities

The political background of the men most prominently mentioned for the Republican presidential nomination are discussed in a series of six articles.

By KIRKE SIMPSON,
By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—Col. Frank Knox, of Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire and Illinois, believes in making his own opportunities.

He carved out his professional career the way he won his military title—by starting from scratch and working hard. He seems to have carried the same tactics into politics.

The colonel — the pistol-shot "Frank Knox" was contracted from "William Franklin Knox" on his own motion—enlisted as a Rough Rider under Leonard Wood and Theodore Roosevelt in 1898 and reached a lieutenant colonelcy in a big gun regiment in France in 1917-18.

Hammers for Success

He began his newspaper career, which has carried him to the publisher's desk of a great Chicago daily and within sight of a Republican presidential nomination, as a reporter in Michigan.

Whatever his work, the records disclose him as no man to wait on opportunity. He has hammered hard and always at the door of success—opening up his own paths.

He has steered an undisguised course toward realization of ambition for high political preferment. Formal announcement of his candidacy came when he filed in the Illinois primary. He has been more willing to talk on prospective campaign issues, more ready with plans of procedure, than the other probably aspirants.

Energetic Frank Knox is not waiting for public opinion to bring him the Republican presidential nomination. He openly courted majority favor, while probable opponents were silent, and speaking tours have taken him to many political fronts.

Knows the Ropes

There are means by which an energetic, Republican could help destiny shape party ends at Cleveland. Although he only once has run for public office—governor of New Hampshire—and then been defeated, Colonel Knox has been active in party affairs for years and in more than one state. He knows what to do.

Willing to be drafted would mean foregoing important organizational work for the enlistment of delegates in advance. Colonel Knox's temperament hardly harmonizes with such strategy. Wherefore it would little surprise political observers if at Cleveland he disclosed a considerable block of southern votes.

There may be little prospect of Republican electoral votes from the south, but that section casts a good share of the votes at a convention, and there have been whispers for months that "Knox men" were working quietly among southern Republicans in the colonel's behalf.

A Regular Republican

Colonel Knox can qualify doubly for the possible Republican insistence on a western candidate. Boston born, he was reared and began his newspaper career in Michigan. He transferred back to New England for a period of years, making New Hampshire the site of his activities. Now he has turned west again as publisher of the Chicago Daily News.

He was a Theodore Roosevelt follower in 1912 and a Leonard Wood supporter in 1920, but he campaigned vigorously for Warren Harding when the '20 nomination was made. That perfects his party regularity. His political assets include a robust physique, fighting ardor, a powerful voice and an engaging personality.

Tomorrow—Dickinson.

MANSFIELD CHIEF BARRED FROM PAY

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Feb. 28—City Solicitor Herbert H. Schettler held yesterday that Police Chief Merle D. Unkle, former Toledo detective had been illegally appointed last Feb. 1, and could not draw salary for his work since then.

City Auditor Paul L. Kelley requested the ruling in connection with approval of Unkle's salary.

Schettler said that Unkle, who established residence here Jan. 31, must be a resident here 30 days to qualify as an elector and cannot legally serve as chief until he is an elector.

STOCKS SPOTTY IN QUIET TRADE

Scattered Issues Hold Out but Other Sections Yield Under Profit Taking.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 23—Outstanding strength was displayed by scattered issues in today's stock market, while profit taking held other sections of the list within narrow limits.

Trading turned quiet after a fast opening. Buying stimulation seemed to be lacking in most categories.

At the approach of the fourth hour Allied Chemical was up more than 4 points, Electric Power & Light 3 and American Telephone 2. Shares up fractions to a point or more included St. Joseph Lead, Anaconda, Goodyear, Schenley, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Seaboard Oil, Westinghouse, Douglas Aircraft, Chrysler and Pennsylvania. Such stocks as Consolidated Gas, Western Union, New York Central, U. S. Steel and General Motors were a trifle lower.

Bonds were fairly firm, but quiet. Grains and cotton were moderately mixed. Leading foreign exchanges were little better than even.

Japanese bonds were again backward and the yen reacted as the troubles at Tokyo appeared to be far from settled.

The action of the ICC in ordering a reduction of passenger and Pullman fares in the major transportation systems of the country failed particularly to disturb most rail equities. Some observers thought the rate cut might be more than offset by expanding traffic.

Various stocks continued to respond to business and industrial developments.

Week-end trade reviews reported current strength in retail distribution with sales volumes the best in three weeks.

That the public is still in a buying mood was indicated by estimates that store sales ran as high as 15 or 20 per cent ahead of the previous week. It was believed that winter merchandise inventories had been practically exhausted in most sections.
